SWALLOWED A LIVE MOUSE. L. M. Stackhouse's Cat Has an Unusual and Painful Experience.

A rather novel incident was witnessed at I. M. Stackhouse's, 430 Ash street, a few days ago. The cat was seen in the backyard terturing its victim, an unusually large mouse, by impressing on it the fact that it could escape if it would only exert itself and make an effort, as kitty was not watching it, and cared very little if it did escape. The mouse, as usual, was easily gulled and availed itself of every such opportunity, only to be caught again when pussy thought it had gone far enough. In one of these vain attempts to escape as the cat bounced upon it, open-mouthed, the mouse disappeared, though it was out on an open grass plot. For a moment the cat seemed dazed at the sudden disappearance, then she rolled over in agony. Screeching and squalling accompaniments would probably have been indulged in had they been possible. But the mouse, as before said, a very large one, was in her throat and headed downward. The agony asted but a few minutes before the cat, to all appearance, died and laid, as if dead, cuite awhile. Gradually she revived, however, and as consciousness returned she began to cry like a baby, and when she tried to walk she staggered like a drunken man. It was fifteen minutes before she could walk straight or her piteous wailing ceased. But

OUTLINED PLAN OF INAUGURATION CEREMONIES SHOULD BE CHANGED.

He Thinks Lieutenant Governor Ought to Be Sworn in with Governor on the Same Platform.

The platform upon which Governor Mount will be inaugurated was crected in the main corridor of the Statehouse yesterday and the whole south corridor was elaborately draped with flags. Governor Matthews raises serious objection to the plan of inauguration, as detailed in yesterday's Journal, the point he objects to being the inauguration of the Lieutenant Governor in the Senate Chamber, instead of on the same platform with the Governor. He says presidential inaugurations, that it has been the custom in Indiana for both officers to be inaugurated from the same platform and does not think it ought to be changed.

On Monday they will not have much op-portunity to accomplish anything, for the nauguration ceremonies will occupy the attention of the members pretty thoroughly, and those who are familiar with the situation do not look to see any changes of moment between now and the time of the joint caucus on Tuesday evening.

Hotel Keepers' Bill.

The executi committee of the Indiana Hotel Keepers' Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon at English's Hotel. The chief business before the committee was the discussion of a legislative measure contemplating the better protection of hotels against "beats." It was decided to urge the passage of such a bill by the present Legislature. The bill is already prepared and is the same as one presented by Senator Sweeney in the Legislature of two years ago. The bill did not come up for Money Question." Admission free. Everybody discussion then, as the session closed befor it was reached The committe transacted its usual routine business and discussed several questions of importance to hotel men regarding rates and expenses. Internal Revenue Collectorships. A warm contest is raging for the two internal-revenue collectorships in Indiana. In the Eastern district A. E. Nowlin, of Lawtime. He now has a competitor in the person of G. W. ("Billy") Wilson, one of the most active and influential young Republicans of Fort Wayne. In the Western district among the candidates are J. C. Billheimer, of Washington, and Jesse Weick, of Greencastle, who was one of the delegates from the Fifth district to the national convention at St. Louis. HOME LIFE INSURANCE. A Bill to Aid Organization of Indiana

Companies. The State Life Insurance Company has sent out a circular letter inclosing a copy of two bills for which it asks support befcre the Legislature. One of them is a legal reserve bill and is all contained in the following paragraph:

"Any life insurance corporation organized under any law in this State, shall have the right, for the better security of its policy holders, to deposit with the auditor of State the net cash value of each policy in force upon the basis of the American experience table, or the actuaries' con bined experience table of mortality, and 4 per cent, interest, in United States bends, state, county, township or municipal bonds, or first mortgage upon real estate worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon, or certificates of deposit of any solvent bank or trust company of the State of Indiana, such deposit to be in no case less than $50,000. For the purpose of ascertaining said net cash value the auditor of State may annually employ a competent actuary, who shall be paid by the corporation for which the service is rendered, or he may accept the corporation's value upon satisfactory evidence of its accuracy. Such securities so deposited may be withdrawn by the corporation only for the settlement of policy claims or for reinsurance, and as herein otherwise provided. Upon making such deposit, on such annual valuation, the auditor shall issue to such corporation his certificate of such deposit. Any corporation making such deposit shall have the right, at any time, to change its securities on deposit by substituting for those withdrawn a like amount of other securities of the character herein provided for, and shall be permitted to collect the interest accruing on such deposits, the auditor delivering to its authorized agent the coupons or other eviiences of interest as the same become due: and whenever the annual valuation of policies outstanding and in force against the company is less than the amount of security then on deposit with the auditor, said company shall have the right to withdraw such excess. Any company making and maintaining such deposit may issue all forms of life insurance contracts, including endowment and annuity contracts, and do general life insurance business, subject to the laws for the regulation of corporations doing such business." The objection that is sure '9 be raised to this bill is that it does no provide for the approval of the securities by the auditor of state or by a board of competent financiers. Under its provisions as they stand, if this bill were passed, it is claimed, the insurance company would be the sole judge of the character of the bonds or mortgages deposited. It is, of course, no secret that there are county, township, municipal and even State bonds abroad in the land that can be bought for very much less than their face value, and under the provisions thus drawn it would be possible for a company, if it should so desire, to performed a feat probably unparalleled in | make its deposit entirely of what would be practically "straw" securities, and while neither the State Life nor any other repthere are always plenty of insurance or- was knocked off the car. Recommends Continued Economy in the Appropriations. The annual report of the State Board Tax Commissioners has been printed and will be submited to the Legislature tothat while this is the custom followed in | morrow. Aside from a review of the operations of the board, it contains some very valuable information in a set of tables showing the debt of each county in the State and the tax levy of each township. The following programme will be rendered | The board recommends economy in appropriations and points out the fact that the by the When Band at the reception given expenses of the State are about $2,000,000 a year and the revenues about $2,300,000, and In order to continue the good work of clearing up the burden of debt upon the State, without increasing the burden of taxation, it is necessary that the most rigorous economy should be exercised. The board, which, during the first three years of its existence, found many important changes in the tax law of 1891 to be necessary, has found during the past two years little necessity for change. They make, however, seven recommendations of minor changes in the practice of assessment, as follows: First, that the date for beginning the assessment of property be changed from April to March 1; second, that a uniform Monday be designated as the last day on which taxes can be paid without becomming delinquent; third, that there should be more stalwart means looking to the listing of sequestered property; fourth, penalties for withholding returns should be made more drastic; fifth, there should be a more explicit provision in reference to exemption; sixth, a more comprehensive statute in rejoined in asking for a preliminary meeting gard to the taxation of building and loan stock; seventh, that there should be a conference of county assessors just before the

ABOUT 600 DOGS.

The Hooster Kennel Club Will Have a Fine Exhibit.

Secretary Hildebrand reports that the entry lists in all classes of dogs are rapidly filling up for the bench show to be given by the Hoosier Kennel Club Feb. 1 to 6 at Tomlinson Hall. About six hundred dogs will be exhibited. Among the prominent kennels are the bloodhounds of Roger D. Williams, of Lexington, Ky. The great dog Vigilant will also be exhibited. There will be two pure-bred Cuban bloodhounds from A. J. C. Smith's kennel, Tiffin, O. Bowers & Harris will be here with fourteen, Dr. J. E. Parr, of Jolietville, with fifteen, Dr. E H. Slough, of Defiance, six, and other dogs will be sent by S. M. Miller, of Darlington; A. F. Field, of Wheaton; W. A. Carter, of Seymour; Dr. Charles F. Bell, of Kokomo; Dan Teeters, of Madison; S. S. Shissler, of Oakland, O., and many others, which will make the largest class of bloodhounds ever exhibited in a bench show. Among the kennels of other classes are: The Alta kennels, of Toledo, O., owned by Mrs. A. W. Lee: the Eberhart pug kennels, of Cincinnati, and the kennels of R. T. Cox, of Bicknell: R. T. Hollowell, of Danville; Auxvasse fox kennels, of Auxvasse, Mo.; those of R. T. Wishard, of Dana, Ind.; Eel River kennels, of North Salem, Ind.; Royal Cocker kennels, of Galva, Ill., and many others of note. Dr. H. Boyd-Snee, of South Briggs Boy.

Every dog of value in this city will be shown almost without exception.

Booker T. Washington's Lecture. Prof. Booker T. Washington, president of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., will deliver a lecture at Plymouth Church Wednesday evening. His subject will be "Solving the Negro Problem in the Black Belt of the South." The Hon. George W. Julian, of Irvington, will preside and introduce Prof. Washington. Prof. Washington is a young man of scholarly attainments. He fully understands the great importance of his undertaking. At least 85 per cent. of the colored people in the South depend on agriculture in some form for their living; and yet, aside from what has been done at the Hampton Institute in Virginia, the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and probaattention given to providing first-class training in agriculture, dairy, horticulture, poultry raising and stock raising. The colored boy has been taken from the farm and taught astronomy-how to locate Jupiter and Mars, how to measure Venus, taught about everything except that which he depends upon for gaily bread. The great problem now is alleged that the bank furnished to the Van how to get the masses to the point where they can be sure of a comfortable living and be able to save a little each year. This can be accomplished only by putting | bank, which stated that the bank held as among the masses, as fast as possible, strong, well-trained leaders in the industrials walks of life. Prof. Washington and notifying the maker that he would be claims that if the educated men of the race do not come to the rescue of the masses along industrial lines the negro, instead of being the soul and center of important industry, will be relegated to the ragged edge. The Tuskegee Institute, with its twenty-five industries, eight hundred students and seventy-eight instructors, is doing all it can to send out a constant stream of young men who go as leaders to put into force the ideas of industrial education. Prof. Washington is a very entertaining speaker, original in thought and ored boy living at 27 Roanoke street, was picked up at the corner of Market and Illinois streets and carried to the office of Dr. McLeay, near by. He said he had boarded a North Indianapolis car and that the conductor had thrown him off. It was found that he had a bad scalp wound and was otherwise bruised, but not seriously

Patrolman Hanlon happened to be at the corner at the time of the accident and last night gave an entirely different version of it. He said the boy was stealing a ride on the draw bar back of the car and would dodge below the dash-board when the conductor came that way. In dodging once his chin struck the railing and he

FIRST SESSION AT TOMLINSON HALL TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Executive Committee Meeting To-Morrow Night-Evans Woollen for Temporary Chairman.

The rooms of the executive committee of the monetary convention were crowded yesterday with Indianapolis business men. who had come up to get their badges and instructions for service upon the various reception committees. The details for the arrangements for handling the convention are very complete, and nothing has been left undone that will add to the convenience or material comfort of the delegates in attendance. The executive committee will hold a meeting with all the nonresident members present Monday evening, when the temporary organization of the convention will be determined upon. There has been some correspondence with the out-oftown members on the subject, and it is practically settled that the temporary chairman will be E. O. Stannard, of St. Louis, and the temporary chairman will be Evans Woollen, of this city. The executive committe has engaged room No. 255 at the Denison House, directly opposite its own headquarters, for the press headquarters, where desks and chairs will be placed and the visiting newspaper men invited to do their work and make themselves comfortable, and where all Indianapolis newspaper men, who can get away from their duties, are invited to act as hosts.

The work of remodeling Tomlinson Hall will begin this evening and be pushed until Tuesday morning. Then it will be in readiness for the convention, which holds its first session at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Chairman Hanna went to St. Louis yesterday, where he addressed the Commercial Club of that city at a dinner last evening and the prospective action of the convention was discussed. This has been done already in many commercial organizations, and the Minneapolis Board of Trade adopted a resolution setting forth and recommending the following plan of action: "After preliminary addresses and discussion by said convention the delegates arom each State should select three persons from their commonwealth (who may or may not be in attendance at the convention) who are, in the estimation of said delegates especially well qualified for services on a currency and banking commission. From the names thus selected from the different States let the executive committee, after careful consideration, appoint a commission of not less than fifteen and no more than twenty-one, to be known as the Indianapolis Nonpartisan Currency and Banking Commission, the executive committee to be allowed, in their discretion, to appoint on such commission persons from such States as are not represented at the convention, this commission to be appointed from different political parties and from different parts of the country. They should also be men of large, but different, business experience.

"This commission shall be intrusted with the matter of securing the adoption by Congress of a thoroughly well-devised currency and banking system. In the opinion of this body such commission should bring to bear all possible influence upon Congress to pass a bill requiring the President to appoint a national nonpartisan monetary commission to draft a currency and banking bill to be presented to Congress. If such a national nonpartisan monetary commission is appointed, the Indianapolis commission should co-operate with it in drawing and securing the passage of the much-needed currency and banking bill, but in case of failure to secure the appointment through Congress of such a monetary commission, the Indianapolis commission should itself draft such a bill, and with the aid of all commercial organizations represented at this convention press its passage by Congress." Up to date 370 delegates have been reported, and it is believed that over one hundred more have been appointed and not reported.

The following additional delegates were reported yesterday: Little Rock, Ark .- Charles Penzelo, H. L Remmei, Sidney T. Johnson and Morris M. Worcester (Mass.) Board of Trade-Arthur M. Stone, Joseph H. Walker, A. Swan Brown. Seattle (Wash.) Chamber of Commerce-E. O. Graves, Thomas Burke, H. C. Henry, Jacob Furth. Joplin (Mo.) Commercial Club - O. M O'Dell. Appleton, Wis .- A. A. The complaint begins by stating organize the Indianapolis Medical and Surgical Institute, when in fact it is not incorporated at all. Agents were sent out | Elam, when William Copeland shot Brunover the country to solicit patronage, and ing and A. C. Harris. it is alleged that these agents were directed to represent that skilled specialists in seven different departments were on the staff of the institute, when in fact there were no others than the two defendants connected with it; that the agents would take the notes of the patrons secured in payment of the alleged services. It is then charged that for the purpose of collecting these notes a scheme was entered into with the Capital National Bank whose officers were aware of the fraudulent purpose of the organization, whereby the notes received were pretended to be assigned to it, when in fact they were merely placed in the bank for collection. Such an assignment, if really made, would bar a defense by the maker of a note. It is then Hummells certain blank letter forms bearing the heading of the bank's letter heads and the signature of the cashier of the assignee a certain note, which had been sent to a certain other bank for collection expected to pay it at the certain other The plaintiff then alleges that she was induced to give her note for $40 for certain treatment and that when it came due, Aug. 9, 1895, she received a notice on the blank described and believing that the note had been legally assigned, thereby cutting
